Cabinet Boost, an AI-driven marketing agency specializing in the cabinet and home improvement industry, announced it will offer complimentary expo passes to qualified cabinet manufacturers and remodeling businesses for the Kitchen & Bath Industry Show (KBIS) 2026, scheduled for February 17-19 in Orlando, Florida. The company, recently confirmed as a KBIS 2026 exhibitor at Booth S19183, will provide free admission tickets to industry professionals interested in exploring AI-powered marketing solutions at North America's largest kitchen and bath trade event.

The announcement follows Cabinet Boost's recent membership in the National Kitchen & Bath Association (NKBA), marking a significant milestone in the company's commitment to supporting cabinet makers, showroom owners, and remodeling professionals nationwide. With over 700 exhibitors and an expected attendance exceeding 55,000 industry professionals, KBIS represents the premier gathering for kitchen and bath businesses seeking innovative solutions to drive growth and operational efficiency.

As a specialized KBIS kitchen cabinets agency, Cabinet Boost will showcase its proprietary Cabinet Boost Growth Engine at the event, demonstrating how AI-powered targeting and automated follow-up systems help cabinet businesses generate consistent, high-quality leads while eliminating tire-kickers and price-shoppers. The company's booth will feature live demonstrations of its comprehensive marketing platform, which integrates paid advertising management, local SEO optimization, and customer relationship management solutions specifically designed for the cabinet industry.

"Cabinet manufacturers face unique challenges in today's digital marketplace, from managing inconsistent lead flow to converting online inquiries into showroom appointments," said Sezgin Arslan of Cabinet Boost. "Our participation at KBIS 2026 allows us to connect directly with business owners and demonstrate how AI-driven marketing automation can transform their customer acquisition process while reducing overall marketing costs."

The complimentary KBIS 2026 free ticket offer extends to cabinet manufacturers, custom cabinetry businesses, kitchen and bath remodeling companies, and showroom owners who schedule a consultation with Cabinet Boost representatives before the event. Attendees who visit the company's booth will receive a comprehensive digital health check for their websites, along with customized strategies for improving their online presence and lead generation capabilities.
