LONG BEACH, CA - July 30, 2026 -

Cabinet Boost, a specialized AI-driven marketing agency serving the cabinet and home improvement industry, announced the expansion of its comprehensive digital marketing platform designed to address the unique challenges faced by cabinet makers, showroom owners, and remodeling professionals nationwide. The enhanced platform integrates advanced artificial intelligence capabilities with proven digital marketing strategies to deliver measurable results for businesses struggling with inconsistent lead flow and unpredictable sales cycles.

The Cabinet Marketing Agency has refined its proprietary Cabinet Boost Growth Engine to provide more sophisticated lead generation for cabinet makers , combining automated follow-up systems, targeted advertising campaigns, and local SEO optimization. The platform addresses critical pain points identified through extensive work with cabinet businesses across the United States, including the challenge of converting online inquiries into qualified showroom appointments and filtering out price-shoppers who waste valuable sales time.

"Cabinet showroom owners consistently tell us that their biggest challenge isn't just generating leads, but ensuring those leads are genuinely interested buyers ready to invest in quality cabinetry," said Sezgin Arslan, Chief Executive Officer at Cabinet Boost. "The enhanced platform uses machine learning to identify and engage high-intent customers while automatically qualifying prospects based on budget, timeline, and project scope."

The comprehensive marketing solution encompasses paid advertising management across Google, Meta, and Yelp platforms, where the company has already managed over $2 million in advertising spend for clients. The system also includes CRM setup and automation, ERP integration for seamless operational workflows, and AI-powered chatbots that engage prospects around the clock. These automated systems ensure that no potential customer inquiry goes unanswered, even outside of regular business hours.

Cabinet Boost maintains partnerships as a Google Business Partner, Meta Partner, and Yelp advertising specialist, providing clients with direct access to advanced advertising features and priority support. The company's commitment to measurable results is reflected in its 90-day performance guarantee, promising cabinet businesses at least 20 qualified showroom appointments or clients pay nothing.

The platform's local SEO component helps cabinet businesses dominate search results in their service areas through optimized Google Business Profile management, citation building, and review generation strategies. Monthly analytics reports provide clients with transparent insights into campaign performance, including cost-per-appointment metrics and conversion rates across all marketing channels.

"The cabinet industry faces unique marketing challenges that generic agencies simply don't understand," added Arslan. "From seasonal buying patterns to the complexity of custom projects, successful marketing requires deep industry knowledge combined with cutting-edge technology."

The enhanced platform launches with a rapid 7-day implementation timeline, allowing cabinet businesses to begin generating qualified leads quickly without lengthy setup periods. Each client receives dedicated account management to ensure campaigns are continuously optimized based on performance data and market conditions.

Cabinet Boost serves cabinet makers, kitchen and bath remodeling companies, closet and storage solution providers, countertop fabricators, flooring companies, and online cabinet distributors throughout the United States from its headquarters in Long Beach, Southern California. The company's focus on the cabinet and home improvement sector has enabled it to develop specialized strategies that consistently outperform generic marketing approaches.
