DOVER, DE - Grandmix Store, an online home goods brand that sells metal decor and storage pieces, has outlined its collection of foldable luggage racks. The range includes 15 racks designed to give guest rooms, short-term rentals and hotel-style bedrooms a raised place for suitcases.

“A luggage rack gives a guest somewhere to open a suitcase without using the bed or the floor, and it folds away when the room is empty,” said Emrah Bilaloglu, Creative Director of Grandmix Store. “Each listing shows the size, load rating and finish, so racks can be matched across several rooms.”

The product pages describe a common issue in guest spaces, where suitcases end up open on the floor instead of at a comfortable height. All luggage racks appear on a single collection page.

Most of the racks pair a powder-coated metal frame with genuine leather straps. The core leather strap rack measures about 19 inches high, 22 inches wide and 19 inches deep, is rated for up to 80 kilograms or 176 pounds on a flat, level floor, and comes in black, gold, white or satin nickel.

Several named models offer specific frame and strap pairings for different interiors. The Ashley pairs a black frame with black or brown straps, the Bighorn combines satin nickel with grey leather, and the Bienville uses a white frame with white straps for lighter rooms.

One model replaces the straps with a single continuous leather surface in an orange-tan tone. According to the product page, the full surface spreads the weight of a suitcase more evenly, and that model carries a 50 kilogram or 110 pound limit.

For rooms with wood furniture, the brand also offers a wooden luggage rack with a solid beech frame and woven cloth straps. It stands about 24 inches high and holds a full-size suitcase of up to 80 kilograms when placed on a level floor.

All of the racks fold flat between stays. The legs scissor-fold so a rack can slide behind a closet door, under a bed or beside a dresser, and the metal models arrive pre-assembled so they unfold without tools when a guest arrives.

The collection is aimed at both homeowners and hospitality operators. The product pages describe uses in guest bedrooms, boutique rentals and hotel suites, where a matching rack can be placed in each room and stored out of sight when not in use.

Grandmix also runs a wholesale program for retailers that carry its home goods, which include metal wall art, towel racks, bathroom shelves, shoe racks and coat racks. The luggage racks sit within its bedroom category alongside nightstands and wall decor.

The luggage rack collection is available on the Grandmix Store website. Questions about specific models or larger orders can be sent to the Grandmix team by email.
