DOVER, DE – September 23, 2026 – Grandmix Store , an online retailer of made-to-order steel home decor and storage, has expanded its firewood storage line ahead of the fall and winter heating season, adding a range of floor-standing, wall-mounted and portable log holders for fireplaces, wood stoves and living spaces.

The addition follows the company’s recent expansion of its metal mountain wall art and wall mounted towel rack collections, and applies the same manufacturing process to a new category of home storage. Each piece begins as galvanized steel, is cut to design specifications, finished with an electrostatic powder coating and checked by hand before shipping. According to the company, the powder-coated galvanized finish is rust-resistant and water-resistant, making the racks suitable for living rooms, cabins and garages as well as covered patios and outdoor fireplace areas.

The Indoor Firewood Rack collection now includes more than two dozen designs organized into decorative, minimalist, vertical, horizontal, wall-mounted and shelf or tabletop styles. Options range from compact log holders suited to smaller rooms to tall vertical racks and large-capacity wood holders. Several designs add a second function, including racks with an integrated bench or tabletop surface, a dual-compartment model that separates firewood from kindling, and elevated racks with a bottom plate that keeps logs off the floor.

Sculptural designs are also part of the lineup, including house-shaped and pine tree-shaped racks, a hexagonal portable holder and a V-shaped frame, intended to serve as decorative pieces when not fully stocked. Wall-mounted versions free up floor space beside the hearth, while portable models can be moved between rooms or carried outdoors. Most designs are offered in black, white and gold finishes, with some available in multiple sizes, and prices in the collection range from $89 to $350.

The firewood racks join the company’s broader catalog of more than 190 metal wall art designs, towel racks and bathroom storage, coat racks, luggage stands, and shoe and slipper racks, with products organized by room and category.

Grandmix Store offers free shipping to the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom and European Union countries, along with a 30-day return policy on eligible orders. The company reports serving more than 10,000 customers and has published more than 1,600 customer photo reviews.
