Istanbul Grill Catering Details Fountain Valley Group Menu

Istanbul Grill Catering & Event Venue

November 07, 2026

FOUNTAIN VALLEY, CA - Istanbul Grill Catering & Event Venue offers Orange County hosts a way to build a group meal around specific dishes rather than an occasion label. Its published menu brings together kebab trays, doner, okra stew, appetizers, soups and desserts that can be considered for year-end office meals or family gatherings.

The planning distinction is between the main dish, its listed accompaniments and separately ordered additions. For hosts comparing options, the Istanbul Grill Catering menu identifies products by dish name and, in many cases, a piece count or stated serving size. These descriptions provide a starting point for discussing quantities with the caterer.

Chicken and lamb shish kebab appear as trays of 50 pieces, while chicken and lamb adana are listed as 10 skewers. Doner kebab is offered under a listing labeled for 10 people. The different units make it important to compare the actual product descriptions rather than treating every tray as an identical quantity.

The ribeye tray details describe cubes of steak marinated in a house sauce and chargrilled. That listing specifies rice pilaf, mixed green salad and pita bread alongside the 50 pieces of kebab. Reviewing those inclusions before adding separate sides can help a host identify what is already part of the selected dish.

“The menu lists kebab trays alongside okra stew, soups, appetizers and baklava,” said Okan Ustun, founder of Istanbul Grill Catering. “Looking at the dish description and its included sides gives hosts a concrete place to start when planning a group meal.”

The menu also provides a stew alternative to grilled entrees. Its okra dish description lists fresh okra cooked with onion and garlic in tomato sauce, accompanied by rice and pita bread. A separate okra stew with lamb appears on the menu, allowing hosts to distinguish the two preparations when making an inquiry.

Appetizer choices include hummus, ezme, labne and babaganoush, with several listings labeled for 10 to 15 people. Lentil soup, shepherd salad and mixed green salad appear separately, while the baklava listing specifies 20 pieces for 10 people. These labels should be reviewed as product information, not a guarantee that every combination meets every group's needs.

For a shared office lunch or family table, the practical next step is to select the main dishes, check their accompaniments and then consider appetizers or dessert. Hosts with allergies or other dietary requirements should confirm ingredients and preparation directly rather than infer suitability from a dish name. No holiday-only menu or seasonal package is being announced.
