

Kitchen and Bath Masters Introduces Custom Bathroom Vanity Design Services in Arlington

Kitchen and Bath Masters Design & Remodeling · September 14, 2026

ARLINGTON, Va. — September 10, 2026 — Kitchen and Bath Masters Design & Remodeling today announced the expansion of its bathroom remodeling division to include dedicated custom bathroom vanities, giving homeowners throughout Arlington County, Fairfax County, Montgomery County, and the District of Columbia a new way to personalize one of the most frequently used rooms in the home.

The new offering allows clients to work directly with the company's design team to plan vanities sized and styled for their specific bathroom layouts, rather than choosing from standard prefabricated options. Each custom bathroom vanities project begins with a free design consultation that pairs cabinetry construction with the company's existing selection of modern fixtures, tile, and countertop materials, including Cambria and Silestone surfaces. Clients can select cabinet configurations, drawer and storage layouts, and finish options before construction begins, so the finished vanity is designed around how the household actually uses the space rather than a fixed template.

"Vanities are often the focal point of a bathroom, and homeowners want something that fits their space exactly rather than settling for what's available off the shelf," said Isa Pehlivan, Company Representative for Kitchen and Bath Masters Design & Remodeling. "Building custom vanities in-house lets our designers control every measurement, finish, and storage detail from the first sketch to the final installation, and it means the vanity, countertop, and surrounding fixtures are planned together instead of pieced together separately."

The move follows the company's recent kitchen remodeling services expansion across the greater Arlington region, and extends the same hands-on design approach, used across more than 100 completed projects in over 30 local cities, into bathroom-specific cabinetry work. Each vanity is built to match the surrounding fixtures, lighting, and tile selected during the same consultation, giving homeowners a single point of contact for design, construction, and installation across the entire bathroom rather than coordinating separate vendors for cabinetry, countertops, and plumbing.

Project timelines vary based on vanity size, material availability, and the scope of surrounding renovation work, and the design team works with each household to sequence cabinetry, plumbing, and electrical updates so the bathroom remains functional for as much of the project as possible.

Kitchen and Bath Masters has operated in the Washington, D.C. metro area for more than four decades, earning Best of Houzz awards in 2020, 2021, 2023, and 2024 for design and customer service. The company's team includes more than 15 trained professionals, among them five in-house designers, along with established partnerships with cabinet manufacturers Fabuwood, Waypoint, and KDC Kitchen Remodeling.

Homeowners interested in the new service can schedule a free design consultation to review layout options, material selections, and installation timelines for custom bathroom vanities and related bathroom remodeling projects. Consultations are available for residents across Arlington, Fairfax, and Montgomery counties, as well as the District of Columbia, and can be booked directly through the company's website or by phone.
