NextDAY Cabinets Chantilly Showroom has unveiled the comprehensive 2025 Shiloh Cabinetry collection, featuring an expanded 29-page showcase that introduces paint programs, wood portfolios, and construction specifications for contractors, dealers, and builders.

The wholesale distributor's Chantilly headquarters now displays the complete collection, which includes 25 standard Sherwin-Williams colors with unlimited custom matching capabilities, nine wood species options, and over 50 door styles ranging from traditional to ultra-modern designs. The Shiloh cabinets spec book details twelve premium quality features, including five-eighths-inch hardwood dovetail drawers, Blum TANDEM soft-close mechanisms, and three-quarters-inch plywood shelving, all backed by a 10-year warranty and KCMA certification.

"The 2025 collection represents a significant advancement in cabinet customization and quality construction," said Dogan Goksoy, Sales Manager at NextDAY Cabinets Chantilly Showroom. "With our expanded paint program featuring trend colors like Shoji White, Quietude, and Rookwood Shutter Green, plus new Café and Slate Highlight techniques, we're providing contractors and designers with unprecedented flexibility to meet their clients' exact specifications."

Advanced construction features distinguish the collection, with each cabinet incorporating premium components designed for longevity and performance. The comprehensive specifications include catalyzed conversion varnish finishes, adjustable shelving systems, and nine different overlay and inset configurations ranging from standard overlays to Modern Flush Inset designs.

The collection introduces Quarter-Sawn and Rift-Cut White Oak among its nine wood species options, complemented by comprehensive stain libraries and specialized Olde World hand-distressed and Aged finish techniques. These kitchen cabinets Shiloh offerings extend beyond traditional applications, encompassing over 40 decorative wood hoods and custom furniture vanities that create cohesive design solutions from kitchen to bathroom.

"Our goal is to provide trade professionals with both exceptional products and the resources they need to succeed," added Goksoy. "This collection combines premium materials with practical design flexibility, allowing our partners to offer their clients truly customized solutions while maintaining competitive project timelines."
