July 19, 2024

NextDay Cabinets Richmond recently announced the launch of its newly expanded line of Ready-to-Assemble (RTA) kitchen cabinets. This new range aims to meet the rising demand from contractors, dealers, and builders throughout the Richmond area. The RTA kitchen cabinets are designed for quality and affordability, showing NextDay Cabinets' commitment to serving the community effectively.

Adding the RTA Kitchen Cabinets Richmond option offers significant cost-saving potential compared to other types of cabinets on the local market. These RTA cabinets allow for lower shipping costs and quicker assembly times. This makes them an attractive choice for budget-conscious projects without compromising on quality.

NextDay Cabinets Richmond places a strong emphasis on quality. The company's RTA kitchen cabinets are made from 100% solid wood and are KCMA certified, adhering to rigorous quality standards. This ensures the cabinets are not only aesthetically pleasing but also long-lasting. The Kitchen Cabinets Manufacturers Association (KCMA) certification validates that the cabinets meet industry performance and durability standards.

"We are excited to offer our expanded line of RTA kitchen cabinets to help meet the growing needs of our partners in the Richmond area," said a representative from NextDay Cabinets Richmond. "These cabinets provide an excellent balance of affordability and quality, making them a great solution for various projects."

The company's reputation for fast lead times and competitive pricing extends to its RTA kitchen cabinets. With a lead time of just 3-5 days, NextDay Cabinets Richmond helps contractors, dealers, and builders meet their project deadlines effectively. This quick turnaround is achieved through efficient processes and a well-coordinated supply chain.

Professional design services are also available for those needing assistance in planning their kitchen spaces. The expert team at NextDay Cabinets Richmond uses 3D kitchen design technology to help clients visualize their spaces before making a purchase. This service ensures that the chosen RTA kitchen cabinets fit well within the designed spaces, matching the clients' style and preferences.

"We strive to be more than just a supplier; we aim to be a partner that contractors, dealers, and builders can rely on for their kitchen cabinetry needs," added the representative. "By offering high-quality RTA kitchen cabinets at competitive prices, we're enabling our clients to deliver better results on their projects."

Besides kitchen cabinets, NextDay Cabinets Richmond offers a range of other products such as bathroom accessories, closets, flooring, and vanities. Their products come from reputable brands like Crestwood, Decora, Forevermark, and Marsh Furniture, ensuring a broad selection to meet varied customer needs.

Delivery services are also part of the package, ensuring that products reach clients on time and in good condition. The company operates multiple showrooms across various locations, including Richmond, making it easy for clients to view products in person before making a decision.

NextDay Cabinets Richmond's launch of RTA Kitchen Cabinets Richmond further underscores its dedication to being a reliable partner for contractors, dealers, and builders. The introduction of this expanded line aims to meet growing demands and provide high-quality, affordable cabinetry options.
