ROSWELL, GA - Trendy Cabinets has organized its bathroom vanity range into seven categories to help homeowners plan a bathroom update. The categories cover single sink, double sink, floating, freestanding, modern and custom vanities, along with vanity tops that come with an integrated sink.

“A vanity decides how much storage a bathroom has and which countertop sits on it, so the range is now split by the way people plan the room,” said Eddie Erdogan, spokesperson for Trendy Cabinets. “Homeowners can start with a category and refine finishes and tops with the design team.”

The cabinet company, which also supplies kitchen cabinets, countertops and closets, now gives each category its own page. The full vanity collection can be browsed from a single overview on the company website.

The single sink category is aimed at smaller bathrooms and powder rooms, where drawers and cabinet space have to work within a narrow wall. Double sink vanities are meant for larger primary bathrooms and offer divided compartments and soft-close drawers for two people sharing one counter.

Floating vanities mount to the wall and leave the floor beneath them open. Because the cabinet hangs on the wall, the installation height can be set for comfort and accessibility, a point the company highlights for households with different needs.

Freestanding vanities take a furniture-style approach, with full-depth cabinets and drawers that suit traditional, transitional or eclectic rooms. The modern category focuses on flush hardware, crisp edges and soft-close mechanisms for homeowners who prefer a simpler look.

A separate category covers vanity tops with integrated sinks in quartz, granite, marble or solid surface materials. These tops are cut to the dimensions of the vanity, which lets a homeowner pair a cabinet from one category with a surface chosen separately.

For bathrooms where standard sizes do not fit, the company offers custom vanities built to the specifications of the space. Designers prepare detailed renderings and help select woods, finishes, hardware, countertops and sinks before any work begins.

Trendy Cabinets encourages homeowners to see the options in person at its showroom on Shallowford Road in Roswell. There, visitors can compare styles and finishes, look at countertop and sink pairings, and review how a vanity will work with the rest of the room.

The vanity range also connects to the company's bathroom remodeling service, which is available for homeowners who want a vanity installed as part of a larger update. The showroom displays cabinets, countertops, vanities and closets together, so a bathroom plan can be coordinated with kitchen or closet work in the same home.

The single sink and double sink pages point to the countertop, finish and hardware choices that complete each vanity. Homeowners in Roswell and the surrounding Atlanta area can review a full combination before a final selection.
