United Granite LLC, a leading stone fabricator serving the North Carolina Triangle area, announces the expansion of its showroom inventory to include over 2000 colors across 120 full slabs, providing homeowners and design professionals with an unparalleled selection of natural and engineered stone surfaces for residential and commercial projects.

The expanded inventory represents a significant investment in meeting the growing demand for premium stone surfaces throughout the greater Raleigh-Durham region. The company's showroom now features an extensive range of natural stones including granite, marble, onyx, and soapstone, alongside engineered stone options from leading manufacturers such as Cambria, Silestone, Caesarstone, MSI Quartz, and Cosmos Surfaces.

"The expansion of our inventory allows customers to view full slab sections in our showroom before making their selection, ensuring they find the perfect stone to transform their living spaces," said Orcun Aydin, President of United Granite LLC. "With three decades of experience in the industry, we understand that selecting Kitchen Countertops is about more than just choosing a surface – it's about creating a lasting statement that enhances both the functionality and value of a home."

The company's comprehensive approach to stone fabrication includes professional consultation, precise measurement, state-of-the-art CNC fabrication, and expert installation, all handled by a single team without subcontractors. This integrated service model has enabled United Granite LLC to maintain industry-leading lead times while ensuring consistent quality across every project.

Granite Countertops remain among the most sought-after options for kitchen renovations, offering exceptional durability and timeless appeal for high-traffic areas. The natural stone's heat resistance and unique patterning make it particularly suitable for both traditional and contemporary design schemes. Beyond granite, the company's diverse portfolio addresses varying aesthetic preferences and functional requirements, from the luxurious veining of marble for bathroom vanities to the natural matte finish of soapstone for specialty applications.

The expansion also strengthens United Granite LLC's Trade Professional Program, which provides dedicated pricing and project coordination services for builders, interior designers, and contractors throughout the Triangle area. This program addresses the specific needs of industry professionals managing multiple projects while maintaining strict timelines and quality standards.

With over 30 years of experience as a licensed and insured contractor in North Carolina, United Granite Marble Countertops has established itself as a trusted partner for both residential homeowners and commercial clients. The company's commitment to quality craftsmanship is reflected in its 255 verified Google reviews and its reputation for delivering custom fabricated stone products that accent living spaces and reflect the character of each property.
